

Your partner in analysis,
design & execution

COMPANY PROFILE

In a world of rapid Business and Technological change, success is no longer guaranteed by simply employing skilled individuals. In today's environment, success increasingly depends on your ability to access the right resources at the right time.

You need a flexible team, capable of expanding and contracting to meet the changing requirements of your organisation. You need specialist consultants 'on demand' to augment and enhance your staff, ensuring high quality results with the benefit of best practice expertise.

Anadex brings an unequalled breadth of knowledge and expertise to address your current business requirements, with key capabilities across all analysis, design and execution activities.

Analysis Understanding the business goals: the issues and the limitations

Design Drawing on our experience to help you formulate the right solution

Execution Delivering a successful outcome for all concerned, on time and budget

Overview

Anadex is able to provide the people you actually need, when you actually need them. Our resources have international experience and are skilled in all areas of Strategic Planning, Project Management and Service Delivery (including ITIL Service Management accreditation), having delivered results to many organisations, including various Australian Government Departments, AXA Australia, Coles Group, Hewlett-Packard and Unisys Australia.

With the people, presence and skills in place and working together cohesively, results are consistently rapid and highly successful. Stringent management of both scope and costs enables you to lower the total cost of your projects while still ensuring you have the right resources for delivery of a quality result.

In September 2007 Anadex was acquired by Connected Solutions Group (CSG). CSG is listed on the ASX and Anadex continues to operate with the same focus and dedication to quality solutions based on HP Software.

Key Competencies

Anadex are able to offer an enviable cross-section of skills and capabilities. We have worked on small scale projects for local organisations as well as global projects based both internationally and within Australia. Conversant in all aspects of strategy development and with well-rounded business and technical acumen, we are swift in execution, drastically reducing the time taken to realise the benefits of your technology investment.
